Ohio and West Virginia. The time toe speculation concerning the ateomo of the election in Ohio is how ast, as tooday the people of that great state will defibitely settle the contest of the polls. The result is awaited with the reatest confidence on the part of the Rd miblicans. The canvass has been an exciting one or bath sides. The Democrats especially, realizing the effect on their canvass in this other States if they lose Ohio, ance made the most desperate efforts to retain their control of the State, and to-day their repeaters and corruptionists will intempt to put in their most effective work. The Republicans, however, are on their track and fully believe they will be able to frustrate these attempts to defeat the will of the people by fraud. Mr. Blaine's visit to the State his aroused a wonderful degree of enthusiasm, and will tend to brink
